

- Deep Roots. David Crombie on the Neighbourhood
- The Art of MintoMidtown. Sculptor Lilly Otasevic
- Construction Update. Finishing Touches
- Customer Care. Suite Orientations
- Your Neighbourhood. Dufflet Pastries & Quince Flowers
- The Sustainable Condo. Green Initiatives on Tour

MintoMidtown
QUANTUM. THE NORTH TOWER & THE SOUTH TOWER

NEWS OF QUANTUM IMPORTANCE • SUMMER 2007

Live the Sweet Life with Dufflet

How sweet it is to live at Yonge and Eglinton when Dufflet Pastries is just up the road at 2638 Yonge Street.

Dufflet is a Toronto household name. For 32 years its owner, pastry doyenne Dufflet Rosenberg, has kept mouths watering with her exquisite variety of sublime desserts that are lovingly hand-crafted using only premium, natural ingredients.

The Yonge and Eglinton neighbourhood is "lively and welcoming," says Rosenberg. "We have lots of friendly people on our block, both residents and business owners. It has a real community feeling." This spring Dufflet celebrates five years at the Yonge Street location.

This is a perfect choice for "one-stop entertaining," she says, in part because it shares retail space with Quince Flowers. Customers can stop in for a light lunch (conveniently priced at around $5) or sweet treat...

and they can also head home with a special dessert and bouquet of flowers for an evening event. Dufflet's is a must if you're planning a wedding, housewarming, anniversary or family gathering... and if you want to bring something to a dinner party, premium chocolates for the hosts will most certainly secure you another invitation.

Rosenberg has lots in store this summer to delight customers' taste buds. Look forward to strawberry tarts galore, mango and peach desserts and, special for Father's Day, double espresso fudge cheesecake.

For those who find Dufflet's full-size cakes tempting, but too big for a small household, the shop also offers smaller sizes. "Many people living in condos are couples, singles and empty-nesters," says Rosenberg. "You may only need two portions of a special dessert." Proof that good things come in small packages!

Plan now to celebrate your Quantum move with "sweets for the suite" from Dufflet.

Dufflet Pastries 2638 Yonge Street T. 416-484-9080 www.dufflet.com

This is your Neigh

bourhood